MORGAN WRIGHT'S CRIME.

Shoots and Kills Captain Sivered at Winfield, Kan.
Young Morgan Wright, the young would-be desperado who has caused the officers in Oklahoma a world of trouble and has been the principal in innumerable scraps, has at last reached the end of his rope, and if the crime had been committed in any other state than Kansas, the end of a rope would be his end. He is in jail at Winfield, Kan., for murdering in cold blood Captain Sivered of that city.

HELD FOR MURDER.

A Very Serious Crime Held Against Henry Welch.
Henry Welch, supposed to be the murderer of James Polk of Kansas City, whose decomposed body was found on the Salt Fork of the Cimarron river some days ago, was arrested last evening at Manchester, in the strip, and taken to Pond Creek in irons. The officers say they have conclusive evidence of the prisoner's guilt.

Frank Smith's Will.

Wichita Eagle: The will of the late Frank B. Smith was filed in the probate court yesterday and is the shortest document of the kind ever placed on record in this county. It contains only 153 words, including the signatures. It was made October 11, 1890; and was witnessed by Frank Fisher and costmaster E. B. Jewett. It bequeathed all of his property of every kind and character to his wife, and stipulates that in the event of her death before his it would then go to her sister, Miss Myrtle Hinton. The value of his property is not stated.

Gave Ponies Away.

Pawnee Scout: At the Indian pipe dance, on Camp creek last week, there were more than eighty ponies given away to the dancers. There were many of our townspeople who attended and enjoyed the sport very much, even if the performers were in a rather nude condition. We presume many of the spectators had visited the art exhibits at Chicago.

Enid's Warm Friend.

Enid Record: Governor Swineford was in town last Saturday and Sunday, and in a short address to our townspeople he said: "Enid will surely get a depot or the town on the north will not get a postoffice." From this time on the governor can have the best that Enid affords. We know our friends and we count him as the best among them.

Horse Stealing Industry.

Since the opening of the Cherokee strip over thirty men have been arrested and brought to this city on the charge of stealing cattle and horses. There is big money but great risk in this business.

City Distastefully Quiet.

The city is becoming distressingly quiet, so far as the police are concerned, and the cop will soon be out of practice. This speaks well for the city, however.

A Big Pelican.

A pelican measuring eight feet from tip to tip was killed with a load of bird shot by Frank Ewing on the Cimarron.

Not Bad for a Pig.

An Edmond farmer has a Poland-China pig five months old that weighs 205 pounds.

O—William Lay, William M. Williams, Robert L. Collins.

HELD UP AND SHOT.

Fate of the Notorious Jim Creighton at Wharton.

James T. Creighton, a notorious character whose home is supposed to be in Wichita, was held up and shot near Wharton yesterday. The shot was in the back of the head, and his chances for recovery are slim. One of his murderers is under arrest.

SIDE GLANCES.

Guthrie possesses a large number of saloons. All are well patronized and apparently saloon proprietors are not complaining. Despite these facts, however, a drunken man is a rare avy on the streets of the capital city. Go into the local option towns of Missouri or Kansas and the festive tippler tips too much and is seen frequently reeling on the prominent thoroughfares. It would seem that the average Guthrie citizen knows when he has enough.

Culture and refinement and polished manners are necessary to good society in any city and town. Guthrie's society is of the best, but, unhappily, the social inclinations of the people are not at a fever heat. Something should be done to cement the various groups and factions, which have gradually drifted apart. Social intercourse is necessary to a high plane of living.

For the size of the city the capital of Oklahoma can boast of more talented and cultured vocalists than any place in the Southwest. A visit to any local church on Sunday will convince the most skeptical of this unvarnished fact.

Crack-brained people and "damphools" are to be found on every portion of this mundane ball. Unfortunately, however, Guthrie possesses more than her share.

An existing evil in this fair city is the presence of the street loafer. Policemen should be empowered to arrest these people and place them on the rock pile.

Guthrie can pride herself for many brainy, talented legal lights, but what can she say for the scores of jacklegs that infest the place. Give 'em the run.

FATE OF A MULE.

It Breaks Its Neck at the Sight of a Bicycle in Motion.

Sam Chadwick had a mule. It was a good mule. It was a pretty mule, and a useful animal, too. The mule is dead now, and thereby hangs a tale of the mule. The mule, during the halcyon days of its lifetime when all the world was gay and the wind sang through the tall sycamores near his master's chateau, was not partial to bicycles and generally kicked when one of the two wheeled concerns hove in sight. But this did not bother its owner. The mule's disposition was distorted, and he would kick even when jostled against. One day the mule was hitched to a post in West Guthrie munching on the essence of time when Ralph Robertson, a young man, advanced toward him on a bicycle. With one terrific shriek the mule poised its head into the atmosphere and fell into a swoon. While swooning its neck was broken.

Now comes the denouement. Chadwick sues Robertson for $75 damages for the loss of his mule. "Squire McCarver heard the case yesterday and will render a decision to-day. Robertson is represented by Attorneys Foster and Robertson.

HORSE THIEVES IN COURT.

Bill Smith in a Dual Role—Matters in District Court Yesterday.

The case of Furrow vs. Baldwin was on tap in court yesterday afternoon. The suit involves a dispute in settlement of accounts. Attorney J. L. Keaton represents the defendant and Attorney Baker the plaintiff.

In the suit of Johnson against the Santa Fe for $10,000 damages, the jury has not as yet returned a verdict.

Dr. Bruce of Perry refused to answer certain questions before the grand jury in the Perry land office investigation yesterday and was taken before Judge Dale, who instructed the witness to answer every question propounded.

In district court yesterday "Bill" Smith pleaded guilty to stealing two horses. The same fellow was arraigned under the name of "William" Smith for selling whisky in the Indian country. Sentences were deferred.

A Cutting Scrap.

Perry Democrat Henry Hiller, an old, gray haired man from Guthrie, who has a claim located a few miles from Perry, was standing on the corner of Sixth and C streets when a man named L. Kempinear, who had been working for him on his claim, approaching him asked him for money. Hiller replied that he had paid him all he had agreed to, when Kempinear drew a penknife and assaulted him. He received a severe cut on the head and right hand. Kempinear was arrested and is in charge of the sheriff.
